

Influence of post industrial Matters on Education.

Current century is determined in different ways: “speed age”, “innovation age”, “information age” etc. It would be also fair to qualify 21st century as the “age of education”. In this case one should define education as a multidimensional, generative resource of strategic order of civil and cognitive matter. The task of education nowadays is to cultivate a personality that is going to be implemented as a useful element of the society. Postindustrial age demands a specific person; people are most likely to judge a person by his place in society that by his character and personal traits. The essence of post industrialization is in three terms closely interconnected and these are innovation, integration and implementation.

Implementation of information is the highest value of social order, human development and level of literacy according to the years of education and the rate of employment of an individual. This term is used for statistical data that helps in determination of the interconnections between the level of education and salability on the job market. Integration is a correlation of personal interest and the field of employment. The point of conflict is the rate of employment that is out of the field of interest. A persuasive essay is a good way to get to the point of the argument between the points. The essence of innovation is the remaking of natural products to create personal unnatural material. Now it is a generation of information and the product that is being remade is information and its outcome therefore innovation and information from the point of educational advancement are interchangeable.

Post industrial age has greatly influenced the development of a personality nowadays and set the new standard for the development of education and personality itself. New ways require new methods that teachers all over the world are to take into account to follow the development of the society. We are talking not only about technological tools but also new approach to a student whatever age he or she is. Every philosophy of postmodernism turned to a personality making studying an individual process that involves only the subject and the sources that can be varied. Comparison and contrast essay can easily spot the difference in the methods used by teachers. Talking in terms of sociology, we may frankly say that modern methods of education are far from socialization. The more densely populated a mega police is the more closed is the surrounding of a person that becomes an inhabitant of a closed world. Pragmatism that is almost a second nature of every average American saves when it comes to foreign affairs or communication skills but private life suffers and influence the overall state of society. Education uses the three methods mentioned above and their implementation is an inseparable part of the processes of society.
